Camfil acquires F.C.R. in Italy to expand local air filtration expertise

Stockholm, Sweden – December 11, 2025 – Camfil has acquired F.C.R., a respected Italian company specializing in air filtration solutions. The acquisition will take effect on January 1, 2026.

The acquisition expands Camfil's presence in Italy and strengthens its ability to serve customers with reliable, energy-efficient solutions for cleaner air. By combining Camfil's global reach with F.C.R.'s local expertise, Camfil will offer a broader range of products and services designed to improve indoor air quality and environmental performance.

About F.C.R.

F.C.R. has built a strong reputation over decades for technical know-how, product innovation, and responsive customer service. The company is known for its deep expertise in filtration design and manufacturing, delivering solutions that meet strict performance standards. Its experience makes F.C.R. a trusted partner for customers in sectors where air quality is critical and reliability is non-negotiable.

What customers can expect

- A wider portfolio of filtration products tailored to local needs
- Strengthened manufacturing and service capabilities within Italy
- Continued focus on solutions that reduce energy consumption and support sustainability goals

Both companies will continue operating without disruption during the integration process. Customers can expect the same high level of service while Camfil works behind the scenes to combine resources and expertise. Camfil looks forward to welcoming the talented F.C.R. team and building on the strong foundation they have created.
